

The Sled Dogs Who Saved a Village with Dr. Shant&eac

author:

2026-07

Synopsis

In this episode, Sharon sits down with Dr. Shanté Cofield, a business coach helping movement and health professionals succeed in the online space. The two connect to discuss the story behind the little-known 1925 Serum Run, which took place in the brutal Alaskan wilderness. During a health crisis, town doctor Curtis Welch was faced with diagnosing and treating an unknown illness, all before it infected the whole town of 1,400 people. Left with limited resources and a short deadline, the Alaskan people sprang into action to set up a sled dog relay to deliver the medicine. Sharon takes Shanté through the twists of the story, providing wit and history at every turn. For more information on this episode including all resources and links discussed go to <https://www.sharonmcmahon.com/podcast> Hosted on Acast. See acast.com/privacy for more information. To learn more about listener data and our privacy practices visit: <https://www.audacyinc.com/privacy-policy> Learn more about your ad choices. Visit <https://podcastchoices.com/adchoices>

Reader's comments

comment 1:

â€"â€" ()