The high-leveled Blight Leech Kane Zerriah is out harvesting Blight from living beings when he finds the corpse of a dead orc. Questioning how this is possible—considering orcs have been banished for more than a decade—he's suddenly ambushed by a group of brutal Orc Fire Shamans. He soon suspects Queen Terrahee of foul play, but none of his guildmates want anything to do with his borderline paranoid suspicions.... In a parallel dimension—on the planet Earth—Ylya Thorli has finally had enough of a life overflowing with hardships. After one last gruesome event, she decides to escape the chains of misery by ending her own existence. Ylya's extreme levels of Blight seep through the dimensional border, drawing Kane's attention. He tracks the sweet scent of her agony and watches her with great interest, wondering whether to harvest her essence or grant her new life as a Blight Leech....
