Do you feel completely broken? Are you facing obstacles like addiction, depression, anxiety, divorce, grief, or all of the above? And you're awake at night, wondering how you're going to overcome it all? Hi there, I'm Randi, a work in progress. My battles have been many, from addiction to depression and most recently: divorce. I've felt lost and broken, and wondered how I was going to survive. But God is bigger than our problems, and if you're walking a dark season, know that there is peace that passes all understanding, even in the midst of our storms. The pain is only temporary. God will not leave you in the valley or let the fire consume you. No matter what you're facing, He will hold you up with His righteous right hand. You my friend, are redeemed!
