

Christina's Gift

author: DW Stanford

2026-07

Synopsis

author	DW Stanford
readBy	Leanne Bennet
inLanguage	english

Christina is unfortunately used to dealing with monumental challenges. First, her father abandoned her at birth and then her mother died entirely too soon, leaving her with just a few months of rent money. Now the woman who took her in and provided her with a job has also passed away.

As Christina hopelessly watches her world seemingly crumble and contemplates why God has placed her in these circumstances, she has no idea that something magical is about to happen that will change her life forever.

A day after Mrs. Baker's funeral, Christina opens the shop and is doing her best to muddle through the morning when her path crosses with Red, an older friend of Mrs. Baker who has opened a beautiful gallery of collectibles and antiques next to the shop. As Christina becomes more acquainted with Red, she begins noticing his special gift for finding the positive in all situations as she slowly learns how to handle and conquer life's greatest adversities.

Christina's Gift is an exceptional story of faith, hope, and love as a young woman down on her luck finds help from a strange and mysterious source.

Reader's comments

comment 1:

â€"â€" ()