

an Levy on overcoming rejection and harnessing gri

author:

2026-06

Synopsis

We bonded over eyebrows, amongst other things. Youâ€™ll know Dan Levy as David Rose in the widely adored TV show Schittâ€™s Creek, which he co-wrote and created with his father Eugene Levy. If ever there was a story of failure leading to success, itâ€™s this, as Dan tells me how his multi-award winning and critically acclaimed show was (initially) turned down by every single network in the USA. We also chat about relationship failures and a particular childhood incident involving birthday cake. Plus, we explore his fantastic new film â€“Good Griefâ€” - a beautiful gay love story for the modern age - and his personal influences behind it. Good Grief and Schittâ€™s Creek are available to stream on Netflix. And Iâ€™d LOVE to hear about your failures, no matter how profound, minor or funny they might be. Every week, my fantastic guest and I choose a selection to read out and answer on our special subscription offering Failing with Friends. Weâ€™ll endeavour to give you advice, wisdom and much, much more. Have something to share of your own? I'd love to hear from you! Click here to get in touch: howtofailpod.com And stay tuned next week for more info on how to subscribe!

Production & Post Manager: Lily Hambly Studio Engineer: Matias Torres Sole Mix Engineer: Gulliver Tickell Senior Producer: Selina Ream Executive Producer: Carly Maile Head of Marketing: Kieran Lancini How to Fail is an Elizabeth Day and Sony Music Entertainment Production. Find more great podcasts from Sony Music Entertainment at sonymusic.com/podcasts To bring your brand to life in this podcast, email podcastadsales@sonymusic.com Learn more about your ad choices. Visit podcastchoices.com/adchoices Learn more about your ad choices. Visit podcastchoices.com/adchoices

Reader's comments

comment 1:

â€"â€" ()