Big, beautiful woman Bree is sick of trying to look for a man. After several disastrous attempts at trying to find a mate, she gives it one last go, with an online dating agency called Full Moon Flings, which claims to have real werewolves amongst its user base. Bree is sceptical, but loves the fact that all the men seem to be looking for real women, not stick-thin models. After sending a few speculative messages, her initial excitement dwindles when not a single man responds. Her excitement returns, however, several days later, when she comes home to find a man waiting for her in her living room. He claims to be a real werewolf, and Bree can't wait to find out if he is telling the truth or not.

This 6000-word sizzling hot, erotic short story explores themes of werewolf-BBW erotica, and features forceful, rough sex between a naturally beautiful woman and a shape-shifting werewolf.
