The way I saw it, I could flip burgers for eight bucks an hour or get my ass spanked for $500. No contest. None.

College is awesome...at least until Carter receives an ominous letter in the mail informing him he owes thousands of dollars in tuition, and they are withholding his credits.

What's a guy to do?

After the gorgeous and older Rick Stonestreet introduces Carter to the wonderful world of spanking, Carter finds himself craving another encounter with the man. When Rick refers him to a friend, Carter can't say no to the money offered, but he finds himself enjoying fulfilling the man's fantasy more than he ever expected.

Notice: This short story contains scenes of an explicit nature between consenting adults and is intended only for a mature audience.
