A Mind-Bending Time-Looping LitRPG Adventure

"We know how it ends. We know how we die. And then the Loop begins anew."

On the 13th day of Harvest, a mysterious woman enters Haven's house of government and unleashes a devastation unlike anything this world has seen before. Reluctant hero, Sham, is caught in the blast and is thrown back in time armed with a legendary new skill.

Now he has just nine days to find this would-be terrorist before she can destroy the city of Haven and take countless lives in the process.

But an investigation like this is never so simple. Dark cabals sell black market skill vials in the shadows. A strange new church pulls zealots from all walks of life. Trained operatives pursue Haven's future savior.

And the voices in Sham's head are getting louder.

Elysium Falls is the first installment in the Loopkeeper trilogy, a LitRPG series about a city caught in a time loop, and those who call it home. Expect mind-bending mysteries, intriguing characters, and powerful new skills.
