Ethan's Way is the story of two cultures, that of Christian Porter, a billionaire country boy from Georgia, and of Lorena Abruzzi, a struggling journalist, from Chicago, who was trying to survive in New York City. When serendipity brought them together, at a small New York City deli, the clash of cultures took shape, as Christian struggled to cope with his wealth and fame and Lori struggled to achieve her life-long goal of writing a best-selling novel. Along the way, on this bumpy road of life, they found love. More importantly, they found what each needed in their life - family.
