

Eton Mess Massacre

author: Steve Higgs

2026-06

Synopsis

author	Steve Higgs
readBy	Charles Robert Fox
inLanguage	english

Baking. It can get a guy killed.
When the chef tipped to win this year's annual Eton Mess competition falls to his death in mysterious circumstances, Albert races to investigate—surely this is the work of the Gastrothief again.
However, Albert barely makes it out of the train station before his detective's brain sees something most other people would never spot—a crime is about to take place, and there's no way he can ignore it.
Instantly shackled with a new problem, Albert attempts to solve both cases simultaneously, but is he up to the task?
It's a good thing he has trusted partner Rex Harrison, the oversized former police dog, ready to lend a paw because this time, he's going to need all the help he can get.
New sidekicks to meet, new dishes to taste, and yet another deadly adventure awaits as Albert and Rex try to give the bad guys their just desserts!

Reader's comments

comment 1:

â€"â€" ()