In a world of uncertainty in business and job opportunities, the one essential business industry that has stood the test of time is "people will always need a place to live and run their business out of" so whether you rent lease or own you will contribute and invest in this industry. Just depends on the side of the table that you will sit on....

Everybody Is a Real Estate Investor (Yes Even You) is strategically written to ease the fears of investing and teach how you can easily learn to be a landlord, buy tax liens, flip properties, wholesale properties, buy and hold mortgages and if you are a 501c3 receive donated properties. I am excited to share my experiences in the industry and encourage others to get in the oldest investment industry known to man. Real Estate.
