Looking for a different twist to the Apocalypse?
In eighth grade, she knew one thing! Science was awesome. Would her future self change the world? At 24, Paulette's got a dream, but it's going to take a lot of money. The best solution is to start her own bionics company and then she can fund her real vision. When she confides in a friend, he's not sure it will work. But he believes in her. Greg is working on his bachelor's in engineering and he's got dreams of his own, but there's always the friend from high school on his mind. He loves how smart Paulette is and treasures their friendship, but could there be more? How would he get her attention? When Paulette had her breakthrough and the pod worked, she desperately wanted to go back in time and save her father, but she knew that messing with the past could be devastating to the world. But time travel goes backward and forward. Could she learn from the year 2280 and make a difference now? The future isn't what she imagined.
