Noah Breaux has been straddling two worlds for far too long and caught between duty and what he knows is right, it takes a new arrival in town to force his hand.

Cadence Morgan has wandered most of her life, thanks to a mother with a restless soul, but when she needs help, she has to use the only clue her mother left her to her past. Her arrival shakes up the entire town and brings decades-old secrets to light.

With her parrot, Nico, she's more than a match for Noah and the Rebels, as they fight foes new and old, and lay the past to rest.
