As an 18-year-old living in a world where technology has allowed for near immortality and eternal youth, Sarah is used to being seen as a child by those around her, but what really makes her unique is not her age. What sets Sarah apart is the fact that, despite the institution of marriage having been abandoned millennia ago, she cannot help longing for a husband who will not hesitate to take her over his knee for a sound spanking when he feels it necessary.

Though she never expected to experience the life she dreams about, when she volunteers to assist with a project being organized by General Richard Green and President Gregory Nevins, Sarah soon realizes that these handsome, powerful men are old enough to have lived in an era when naughty young women were still corrected with a firm hand applied to their bare bottoms. Soon enough, Sarah finds herself naked and blushing with her bright red, well-spanked bottom on display as she is taught all the ways two stern, dominant men can enjoy her beautiful body. Their masterful lovemaking proves more pleasurable than she would have thought possible, but when Richard and Gregory decide to claim her as their wife, will Sarah truly be ready to submit completely to her old-fashioned husbands?
