Synopsis

author	Rhys Bowen
readBy	Katherine Kellgren
inLanguage	english

Agatha Award-winning author Rhys Bowen's charming combination of intrigue and romance blended with a touch of humor shines when performed by Audible Hall of Fame narrator Katherine Kellgren, whose deft range and impeccable accent work make it hard to believe this isn't a multicast performance.

In this irresistible cozy set in 1930s London, Rhys Bowen introduces the lively Lady Victoria Georgiana Charlotte Eugenie or "Georgie" for short. Despite standing 34th in line for the throne and occasionally having tea with (and spying for!) Her Majesty the Queen, Georgie is penniless and down-on-her-luck. And just when it seems things might be looking up, she finds a body in her bathtub.

Listeners are sure to be hooked on this royally enjoyable series and luckily for them, the collaboration between author and narrator only gets richer over the course of 12 books.
