Synopsis

Contrary to popular belief, we already have solutions to today's environmental problems. However, these solutions are not being implemented by companies or the average person. How do we find clean energy solutions that people will actually use? Chris Patton, Co-Founder and CTO of AlphaCor Ltd, is obsessed with clean energy solutions and educating and empowering companies, political leaders and everyday people to implement them effectively. In this episode, he breaks down some of his newest projects, and the science behind them.
