This week, Susie reveals her teenage encounter with a glamorous cottontail. Susie's tale coincides with a ritual event happening all across the country over the next few weekends: The Prom. Teenagers will be following some age-old traditions: renting ill-fitting tuxedos, buying outrageously gaudy gowns, and hiring stretch limo's to shuttle them across town. Susie shares her own prom-night story, "The Bunny Trip", which is featured in the new book The Time of My Life: Writers on the Heartbreak, Hormones, and Debauchery of the Prom, edited by Rob Spillman. She tells us all about her high-school days, when she was a swim-team score girl and a lefty-communist radical, and didn't think much about going to the prom. But when she heard the event was being held at the Playboy Club, Susie and her friends decided to find out just how much fun Playboy bunnies can be. Don't forget, you can send your confidential questions, feedback about the show, and requests for girly cards to susie@audible.com. (Episode 343, June 6, 2008)
