It's 1962. The prisons are overcrowded and it's about to become worse due to budget cuts. US President Cain Cardwell has a plan. Move the worst offenders on death row to a remote island. His closest confident, Jackson Draper, has doubts, realizing that the president has an alternate agenda that is too sinister, even for a rogue president. Now, he must risk his own life to stop the madman, in a race against time. The clock is ticking...
