A Second Chance Becomes Trouble After leaving his cheating ex and New York City behind, Mackenzie Byrnes wants to celebrate his new life and new teaching position in New Gothenburg. Only he ends up at a club in need of rescuing from a jerk who won't take no for an answer. After that embarrassing mess, Mackenzie swears he's on a man ban. His resolve lasts until he runs into the handsome bouncer who saved him, and then he hands over his phone number, hoping for a date.

A Stalker Who Can't Look Away Travis Hughes has two jobs - spy for the president of the Kings of Men MC, and nightclub security. When Travis saves a sexy blond from getting groped against his will, he gets the urge to follow him home to make sure he arrives there safely. One night of watching turns into a habit Travis can't shake, and an impulse he won't deny.

Lies Exposed The closer Travis gets to Mackenzie, the sloppier he becomes. When his half-truths begin to catch up with him, all hell breaks loose with the Kings of Men MC, and Mackenzie finds out Travis isn't who he said he was. With Travis's lies exposed, a cop hot on his trail, and his brother in jail - he's sure he'll lose Mackenzie as well - but he might be surprised by the strength a certain kindergarten teacher possesses.
