The hunt explodes. Jack Sigler, call sign King, and the elite Chess Team operatives have been relentlessly hunting for their abducted former leader, Tom Duncan. An urgent call from George Pierce's shadowy Cerberus Group catapults them to the treacherous Southern Ocean, where they clash with ferocious prehistoric nightmares in a fight for survival.

Global chaos unleashed. Before Chess Team can rendezvous with Pierce's mysterious allies, unseen adversaries strike, while across the world, the American and Russian presidents are each assassinated. In a small city in Western China, the entire populace faces an onslaught from a devastating space-based weapon unlike anything the world has known.

Apocalypse looms. Chess Team rushes to unravel the only leads they have, with the world on the brink of disaster. They plunge into a global chase, uncovering a sinister subterfuge that spans continents. As catastrophic satellite attacks ravage cities, King and his team are thrust into the epicenter of a diabolical new kingdom. There, they face a reality that could mark their final stand.

New York Times and #1 Audible bestselling author Jeremy Robinson once again teams up with international bestseller Kane Gilmour for a rocket-fueled, action-packed adventure, bringing characters to a long-awaited collision and two novel series to a rampaging conclusion.
