She is conducting an interview for High Times while harboring a secret. He runs the largest legal marijuana operation in Colorado and loves money above all else. Can they break through and make sense of their worlds as they come together? Brent Stone I run the biggest legal marijuana operation in Colorado, and I'm not about to let anyone stand in my way as I grow my wealth with weed. After she comes into the picture, so secretive and sexy, I lose my way for a minute. If I've learned anything becoming the King of Pot, it's that money talks and women are a dime a dozen. Still, there's something about her that pushes all my buttons, even the sexual ones. Heidi Hill He thinks I'm a reporter for High Times, but my job is as far away from the media as you can get. During my first interview with him, his stretch SUV is attacked by the cartel. My true mission is dangerous, but I can't seem to keep my mind or my hands off him. This brash, cocky, tattooed bad boy is not going to distract me from what's important. Not even with that rock hard body and fabulous blue eyes.
