Love is a game. Are you tired of waiting around for that passionate, committed relationship of your dreams? Do you struggle to find high-quality men to date? Do you have a special guy in mind but just can't figure out how his mind works? The universal rules of men. It's time to get real about men and how they work. Most women just do not understand men. Now, you can arm yourself with the knowledge to not only find your perfect man, but catch him and keep him. What really matters most to a man? What will delight him? What will scare him away? How can you stand out from the competition without compromising your feminine dignity? Women have changed. The game has. Women striving for equality have forgotten what it is that can make them truly happy: a loving relationship with the right man. Perhaps you waste so much energy worrying about your life, work, and other commitments that you can't find time for romance. If your last relationship failed, do you know how to avoid every pitfall this time around? Perhaps you've forgotten how to make the first move or you never learned how. It's time to make your move. Alexandra Filia is a savvy businesswoman, amateur adventurer, and devoted mother who has traveled the world. Now, she brings her no-nonsense expertise to help busy modern women who are tired of failures, false starts, and broken hearts. There are no flowery platitudes here. With Alexandra's encouragement and straightforward advice, you'll reawaken your womanly nature and know how to deal with every stumbling block along the way. What are you waiting for? In this no-nonsense guide to landing the man of your dreams, you'll learn:

- Where to meet the best guys and approach them naturally.
- How to handle your man, his friends, his exes, his family...even his mother.
- How to make your man want to marry you and how to encourage him to ask.
- The things to never do if you want your love to last.
- Why denying your natural femininity will never make you happy. Why acting like Bridget Jones is a very, very bad idea. How to make your special guy feel like an alpha male by playing to your feminine strengths. What men really think about love, sex, and marriage (in their own words!) And much more.
