Dani

As a best-selling romance author, most assume my life's glamorous, filled with combustible chemistry, and most of all, romance.

Ha! I can only wish.

With a deadline looming, I've escaped to my family's cabin on Anderson Island to free myself from distractions. My plan's great until a man who could pass as a cover model on one of my books comes to my rescue.

Is there chemistry? Sure. Is he everything I'd look for in a guy?

Absolutely. But will my career be at risk if I give into my desire?

Luke

For a player, women line up outside the locker room. For coaches, we're lucky to get in the game.

As the youngest NFL coach in the league, I live, eat, breathe, and even sleep football. To gear up for this season, I return to my home on Anderson Island for a much-needed break. When Dani literally crashes into my life, my mind's suddenly on the sexy brunette with a sailor's mouth rather than my team's next play.

She has me dusting off another playbook entirely, making me wonder, did I make the right call?
