Children's bedtimes can be a challenge for many parents. These stories can help. The stories are narrated in an intentionally calming way by a teacher that has been proven to get younger children to sleep set to soft background instrumental music. This audiobook is created with bedtime in mind, avoiding too much drama in the stories, which may prevent kids from relaxing. The stories contain educational elements, so while listening, children will expand their vocabulary and learn about animals. This set of stories covers bedtimes for a set of diverse animals from different environments. In hearing about animal bedtimes, children will be helped in the process of preparing for their own bedtime.
