SARCast is the podcast for search and rescue professionals, volunteers, and anyone with an interest in SAR, outdoor operations, and emergency response. Now a collaboration between Stonestreet SAR Store and Outdoor Professional, the podcast is hosted by Richard Prideaux and Luke Stonestreet, bringing expert insight, real-world experiences, and interviews from across the SAR community. Each episode dives into the evolving world of search and rescue from operational tactics and team training to the latest technology and kit. Expect discussions with search and rescue personnel, Coastguard officers, police and specialist units, voluntary SAR teams, and industry experts. Whether you're an active responder, a team leader, or just fascinated by the world of SAR, SARCast brings you the stories, skills, and developments shaping the field. New episodes coming regularly. Stay sharp, stay safe, and stay tuned. Find SARCast online:
