Seeing your ex again after six years is one thing,
But hiding his secret daughter is a whole new level of complicated.
My bestie hooked it up with an all-inclusive vacation, so naturally I said YES.
But I should have peeked at the guest list beforehand.
Now I'm stuck in paradise for two weeks with the guy who knocked me up and broke my heart.
And despite the massive time gap he's only gotten hotter with age.
Annoying.
I'm still holding onto my grudge like a lifeline.
But Mr. Heartbreaker is giving me all kinds of mixed feelings.
Soon sparks are flying, as are our clothes.
And he's parting more than just my lips again.
My daughter deserves her father. At some point I need to tell him the truth.
Can we move beyond this situationship, or will my secret break us?
