They might as well have woken up and said, "It's in our stars today".
Star Monet is a sumptuous woman and she has needs, sexual needs. She strips with the intent to pleasure herself right on the pond's shore--after all, she's alone right?
Phineas Larson, a farmer and assistant manager on a nearby farm owned by his dad, can't believe his luck when he sneaks up and catches a goddess satisfying herself.
A swim is what they both need and want, but seeing each other naked is no way to start a romance. That's backward.
