This is a collection of stories drawn from many different tribes of Native Americans. Although the different lifestyles of these varied peoples dictate widely different types of story, they are united by a common belief in the spiritual power of the natural world and the magic that inhabits all living things. Stars and animals speak, wizards and giants cast wicked spells and young heroes and heroines brave all dangers to come home safe in the end. The Story of Scarface, Ballplayer and the Wizard, White Feather, Feather Woman and the Morning Star, The Dun Horse, Waupee and the Birds, The Red Swan.
