Synopsis

Our story tonight is called Sunrise at the Cabin, and it's a story about welcoming the coming day with a friend at your side. It's also about dry leaves left over from Autumn crunching under your feet, the beauty of imperfect things, changing light, a coffee cup steaming in the morning air, and the gift of an early start. We give to a different charity each week, and this week, we are giving to Meals on Wheels. Meals on Wheels works to support our senior neighbors and extend their independence and health as they age.
