After Mira's biological mother had passed away, Reese was able to once again turn his attention to settling down with Laura. Convincing Laura to marry him would be the hardest thing he'd ever had to do. It was going to take some serious work to convince Laura that it was the right thing to do.

Laura had her reservations, and a lot of fears to overcome. She always prioritized her career first. So, becoming a wife and a mother was a bit intimidating to her.

However, Laura wanted to live the life that Reese offered. It was a very tempting offer. Laura wanted to be a part of Reese and Mira's life. But she had to find her way, even if it scared her.

What will Laura do? Will she choose to go back to her life as it was or will she take a chance on happiness with Reese?
