

The Day of the Boomer Dukes

author: Frederik Pohl

2026-06

Synopsis

author	Frederik Pohl
readBy	Kevin Killavey, Ran Alan Ricard, Brian Killavey, Jim Killavey, Cindy Killavey
inLanguage	english

Frederik Pohl is an American science fiction writer whose career has lasted for over 70 years. He edited Galaxy magazine and its sister magazine IF and won the Hugo three years in a row. In this story, a young man from the far future is bored, so he escapes in a time portal to find a more exciting life in the past. His goal is to take some weapons from the future and join up with "The Mafia" in New York City. One of the groups of people he meets is a street gang called "The Boomer Dukes." He asks them to "take me to your Mafia." Very interesting results follow. The story is told in the first person in five sections - the young man, a city cop, the gang leader, a reporter, and a short order cook who turns out to be much more than she seems.

Reader's comments

comment 1:

â€"â€" ()