There's a young woman tied up in the basement of our cabin. It was supposed to be a fun weekend at our family cabin. I was going to surprise my husband, Mike, with a small get-together for his 40th birthday. Something is wrong, though. Mike isn't himself lately. He goes out often and by himself, leaving me and our young son. Our happy marriage is fading away, and I don't know why. This weekend is just what's needed to cheer him up. It's what we need for us. When I get to the cabin and set up, I hear sounds coming from the basement. That's when I see her. A young woman tied up and scared. She cries out for me to help her. Before I can, Mike comes to the cabin early. Who is she? Why is she here? What has my husband done?

The new psychological thriller from the author of The In-Laws and The Patient's List. If you're a fan of gripping thrillers by the likes of Daniel Hurst or Freida McFadden, The Family Cabin will keep you on the edge of your seat.
