A boy is plunged into a quest within a mysterious world. When he uncovers a dark conspiracy, he realizes he must find his true identity to find his way home...

In the vast tapestry of life, there are stories whispered among the trees and written in the wind – tales of mystery, courage, and the undying quest for self. This novel delves deep into one such legend, taking you through the heart of a sprawling, ancient forest where shadows harbor secrets and the line between the known and the unknown is as thin as a leaf's edge.
