They are coming.

They must be stopped.

Time is running out.

A young Orc finds a pet on her way to school. She learns very quickly that this is not a pet at all, but a human prince. His father will stop at nothing to bring home the heir, including murdering thousands of Orc men, women, and children.

Lokâ€™Toria came into her gift at a young age, and now must live with the curse of knowing what is to come. Itâ€™s up to her to stop the carnage before it happens. Will she be too late to save her people? Has the king been so blinded by his grief that nothing will stop him?

Follow in the adventures of Lokâ€™Toria, as she fights to bring her new friend back to his family.
