Private investigator Hailey Arquette's job to locate a woman's fianc e is complicated when she succeeds. The problem is he is now a spirit who can't identify his killer. FBI agent Trenton Briner has his hands full. His long time psychic friend has taken on a mouthy sidekick, a teenager with no caution and no sense of vulnerability. He knows there's more to both young women, but can't define their unique abilities, until he catches the teen red-handed. Hailey knows the crime scene evidence doesn't add up. Animal fur, a human and cougar's tracks beside the victim, and a seemingly invisible killer open her psychic world to new and deadly possibilities. Shifters. Can the trio find common ground before the unseen assassin stalking them strikes one of their own?
