It's summer in the Valley of the Sun; the temperature's rising and so is the body count.

One of the city's most exclusive escorts has lost her little black book - and a brutal killer has turned it into a hit list. One after another, some of Phoenix's richest and most respectable men are turning up dead.

Troubled homicide detective Sean Richardson and his partner, Maggie McClinton, take lead on the hunt for a brutal, methodical killer stalking Phoenix's elite and meting out a very personal brand of justice. But when so many people share a secret that just might get them killed, the next victim - and the killer - could be anyone.

In this thrilling sequel to No Place to Die, the Valley of the Sun scorches even the cold-blooded.
