The vampire king's promise of sanctuary, a safe haven for all nonhumans, hangs in the balance. Reluctantly, he sends his youngest agent to retrieve and hide a maddened werebear. If she can't keep him out of the public eye, then all will be lost, and she's not doing so good.

The bear is elusive, savage, and on a killing spree. If the humans find out about nonhumans, they will hunt them into extinction. She has to stop the bear, but first, she has to catch him.
